SHAH OF PERSIA SEEKS NEW BEAUTIES

For the royal harem at Teheran, the Shah of Persia has had his country scoured, until now every available beauty in his land is either a member of his household or marked for such distinction. The types of beauty which appeal to the oriental senses are not in full harmony with western taste, yet many of the women who grace the royal harem would if garbed by Felix or Worth make a sensation in any land. There is no limit to the size of the royal Persian harem and His Majesty still has orders out for all the pretty girls he can get.

JUDGE SURPRISED BY THE JURORS

JURY STOPS CONSIDERATION OF MURDER CASE TO INDORSE THE JUDGE FOR ELECTION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Members of the jury before whom an Italian, Raffaele Cascone, is having his second trial for murder, nearly stunned Judge Whitman, presiding in the Court of General Sessions today, by putting aside their consideration of the case on hand long enough to indorse the judge and promise to support him in the election next Tuesday. Judge Whitman now holds the place by appointment from the governor. Nobody in the court room was more taken aback by this unprecedented proceeding than Judge Whitman himself. The indorsement took the form of the following resolution, to which all 12 jurors had affixed their signatures:
"We, the undersigned jurymen of the special panel now serving under you in the Court of General Sessions, Part III, desire at this time to express our appreciation of your courtesy and kindly disposition, mingled with dignity, energy and ambition in your endeavor to impartially administer justice. Our observation during this term of your court has convinced us that your personality, ability, and purpose for right and justice are incentives for us to assure you that irrespective of our political inclinations we will give you our hearty support for your election."

SUB LEASES WERE VERY PROFITABLE

TERRITORY FIGURING HOW MUCH IT WILL GET FOR KAPAA LANDS.

W. L. Whitney, who spend some days looking into the matter of the minor leases in force on the government's Kapaia lands, while he was in Kauai, has secured a partial list of these renters, and will as soon as possible try to figure out for the Territory just how much rent per year the rice, taro, and lands other than cane lands are bringing in. This is the land which recently reverted to the government after being held under a thirty-year lease by Z. S. Spaulding at a total rental of $399 annually.
Spaulding is still allowed possession of the cane land on which unique crops are growing until such time as he can harvest same, but it took a day or two of arguments to convince him that he can no longer collect from the sub-leases on the property. The reason for his reluctance on this matter seems to be clear when it is learned that one Chinaman who has a small plot of land in rice, is paying alone $6000. It is scarcely likely that the entire amount of sub-leases was bringing in less than three or four times that amount.

USES FOR HAWAII'S BIG LAVA CROP

SOME OF THE PURPOSES TO WHICH A RECENT DISCOVERY MAY BE APPLIED

In connection with the recent shipment of lava from Hawaii the Herald has the following:
Manager E. E. Richards, of the Hawaiian Telephone Company, informs the Herald that lava is used in making fire places in place of tiles or bricks and that it makes a very handsome finish. Furthermore, he says that there are a thousand and one things where it can be used in connection with electrical apparatus, as lava is a non-conductor. When ground it can be moulded for tubing. It can also be used for making insulators.

Here is another suggestion from Japan. In a report by Consul G. H. Schimmo, of Nagasaki, who states that a recent issue of a Japanese paper contains the following:
"The Kyushu Kaikan (industrial) Company, which is composed of prominent business men of Nagasaki, is conducting a very successful business. It has been decided to construct a factory near Yubiko, and about 10,000 ryo (about a acre) of land was recently acquired by the company for the purpose. The Japanese authorities have been applied to for permission to construct a light railway between Ichigo, where the first factory is situated, and Yubiko, a small port from whence the product of both factories could be shipped. When these undertakings are completed, the annual output is estimated at 100,000 ryo."

"At present the ashes, which are used as a substitute for cement, are supplied to the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha Dockyards, the Sasebo Naval Yard, and the Wakamatsu Iron Foundry. Quantities have also been exported to Korea, North China, Shanghai, and Formosa, and the demand is rapidly increasing. Forty thousand ryo were recently supplied to the Sasebo naval authorities, and a contract has been made for the supply of 60,000 ryo to be used in the harbor works at Keelung. The ashes are much cheaper than cement and almost as effective; sometimes the ashes and cement are used together most advantageously. The company's dividend of nine per cent for the first half year on a capital of 200,000 yen ($400,000)." Mr. Schimmo adds that he is informed by a gentleman connected with building work at Nagasaki that this cement is composed of volcanic ashes, to which are added sand and Portland cement. The proportions of this mixture he has not been able to ascertain.
